In the course of operations it was seen that several of the plans proposed by the minister for the defense of the Vosges would entail the destruction of a large part of the forest, which was considered essential for the security of the country. The minister was therefore compelled to submit a new plan, which was accepted by the government. The work was then proceeded with under the direction of the minister, and the destruction of the forest was completed in a few months. The forest was then turned over to the use of the government, and the wood was used for the construction of public buildings and for other purposes.

The minister was also engaged in the construction of the railway system of the country. He was successively minister of communications and minister of public works, and was responsible for the construction of several important lines. The railway system was greatly extended, and the country was thereby much better connected. The minister was also responsible for the construction of the Great Eastern Railway, which was a great success.

The minister was also active in the field of education. He was responsible for the establishment of several important schools and colleges, and for the promotion of education generally. He was a strong advocate of the University of Strasbourg, and was instrumental in the establishment of the university.

The minister was also active in the field of foreign affairs. He was minister of foreign affairs, and was responsible for the conduct of the country's foreign affairs.

The minister was also active in the field of finance. He was minister of finance, and was responsible for the conduct of the country's finances.

The minister was also active in the field of literature. He was a great literary figure, and was responsible for the promotion of literature generally.

The minister was also active in the field of religion. He was a great religious figure, and was responsible for the promotion of religion generally.
