FOTOCOPII
DUPĂ DOCUMENTELE ÎN LIMBA SLAVONĂ

The image shows a page of handwritten musical notation on aged, yellowed paper. The notation is written in a single staff with a treble clef. The notes are mostly eighth and sixteenth notes, with various rests and accidentals. The handwriting is dense and somewhat difficult to read. There are some large, dark stains on the right side of the page. The paper shows signs of age, including creases and discoloration. The notation is written in a style typical of 18th or 19th-century manuscripts.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or similar, covering the page. The text is arranged in several lines, with some larger initials or decorative elements. The document appears to be a page from a book or manuscript, showing signs of age and wear. A large, dark, circular ink blot or smudge is visible near the bottom center of the page, partially obscuring the text. The text is written in a dense, cursive style with some larger, more formal-looking letters interspersed.

Handwritten text in Church Slavonic script, consisting of several lines of dense, cursive characters.

Manuscript page with dense handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar. The text is arranged in several columns, with some lines appearing to be musical notation or technical instructions. A large, dark, irregular shape, possibly a stain or a large mark, is present in the center of the page. At the bottom, there are several diagrams or drawings, including a large hexagonal shape and several smaller rectangular structures with internal lines, possibly representing architectural or mechanical components.

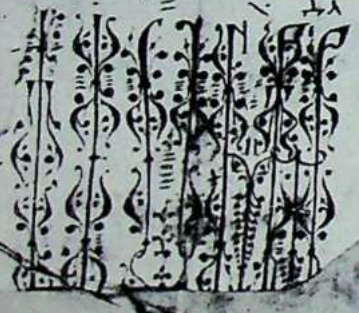

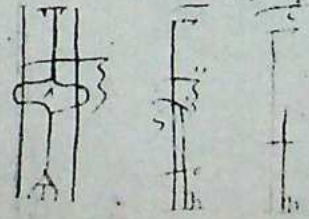

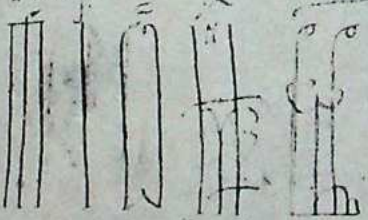

Main body of text in a historical script, likely Church Slavonic, with various lines and some larger initials.

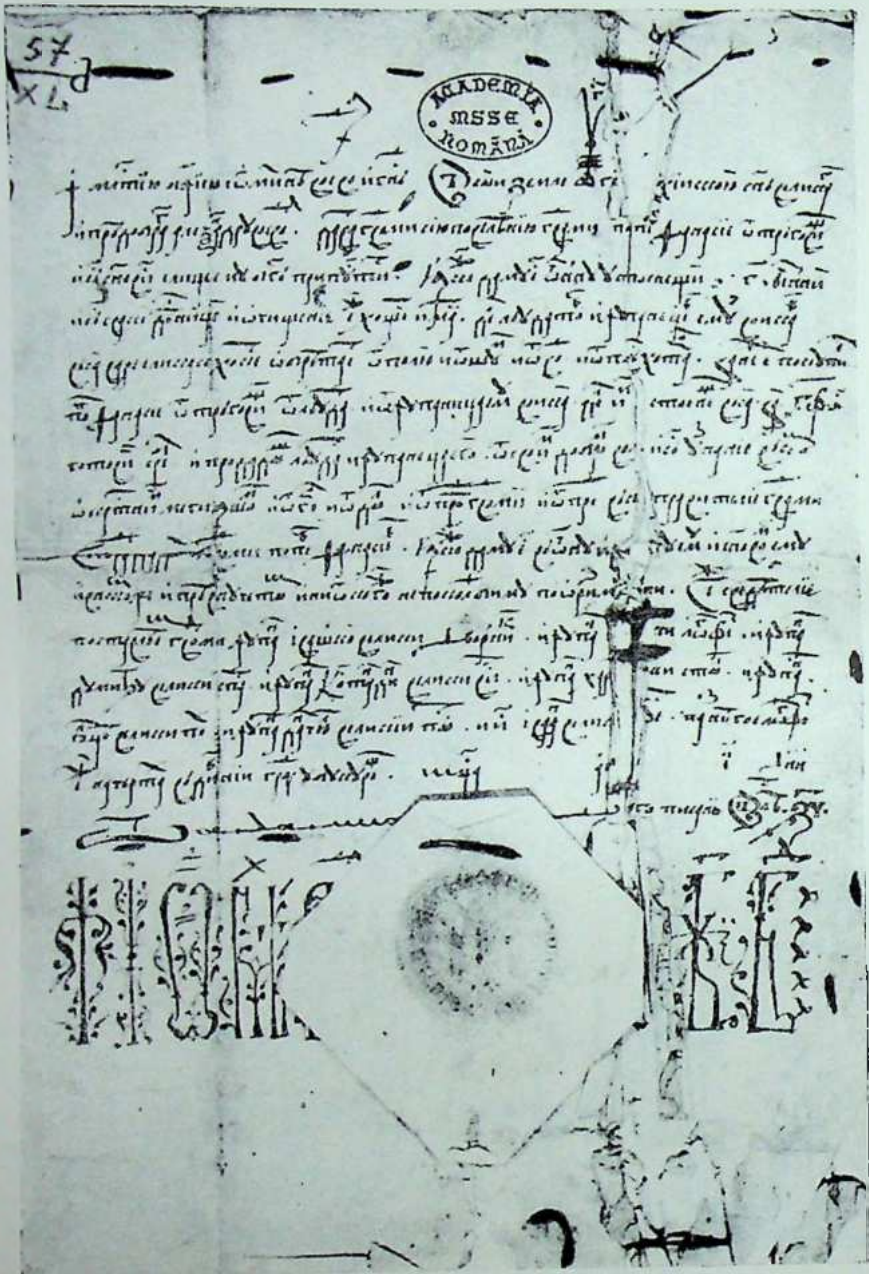

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a manuscript page. The text is dense and covers most of the upper half of the page. It appears to be a Latin text, possibly a liturgical or legal document, given the 'ROMAN' label. The script is a cursive Gothic hand.

The image displays two pages of an antique manuscript, likely a musical score. The notation is dense and appears to be a form of early printed or handwritten notation, possibly related to the 'Musica Secretorum' or similar. The pages are heavily stained and discolored. A large, dark, irregular shape, possibly a hole or a piece of tape, is visible in the center of the right page. The left page shows several staves of notation, and the right page shows a large, dark, irregular shape in the center, possibly a hole or a piece of tape, and some notation on the right side.

This page contains handwritten musical notation on aged, yellowed paper. The notation is dense and covers most of the page, with a large, dark, irregular stain in the center. The notation includes various symbols, including a large 'C' and 'F' at the bottom, and several staves of music. The text is written in a cursive, handwritten style, typical of historical musical manuscripts.

Handwritten text in Cyrillic script, likely a manuscript or document, written in a cursive style. The text is densely packed and covers most of the page. It appears to be a historical document, possibly a letter or a record, given the use of Cyrillic and the style of the handwriting.

512

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or similar, arranged in several lines across the top half of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a formal document or manuscript.

Four vertical decorative elements or symbols, possibly representing initials or specific characters, located below the main text on the left side.

Additional handwritten text or symbols on the right side of the page, including a large, stylized character and some smaller markings.

Handwritten musical notation on a page with a large dark stain. The notation consists of several staves of music with square neumes on a four-line staff. The text is written in a Gothic script, likely Latin, and is interspersed with the musical notation. The page is numbered 1227 in the top right corner. A large, dark, circular stain is present in the lower center of the page, obscuring some of the notation and text. The page is otherwise heavily stained and shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten musical score on aged paper. The notation consists of several staves with notes and clefs. The text is written in a cursive script, likely a form of Church Slavonic. A large, dark circular ink blot is present in the lower center of the page. The manuscript shows signs of age, including some staining and wear.

519

Handwritten musical notation on a five-line staff, featuring various rhythmic values and clefs. The notation is dense and spans across the entire width of the page.

f. 1. v. 1. Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or Greek, with various symbols and flourishes.
 The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. It features a variety of characters, including letters, numbers, and decorative elements. A prominent feature is a large, dark, semi-circular mark or blotch located near the bottom center of the page, which appears to be a significant stain or a large ink smudge. The overall appearance is that of an aged, possibly damaged, manuscript page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or dialect. The document is heavily stained and shows signs of age. A large, dark, circular mark is visible near the bottom center of the page.

CXXVIII

Handwritten musical score in a historical notation system, likely a form of mensural notation. The score consists of multiple staves of music, with some staves containing large, stylized letters or symbols. The notation is dense and fills most of the page. There are several circular stamps on the page, including one at the top right and another at the bottom right. A large, dark, irregular shape, possibly a stain or a large mark, is present in the lower-left quadrant of the page.

[The page contains dense handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar. The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher. There are several large, decorative initial letters, possibly 'C' or 'E', at the beginning of some lines. The paper shows signs of age, including a large dark stain in the center and some fading at the edges. At the bottom of the page, there are several vertical lines and some smaller, less distinct markings, possibly representing a table or a list of items.]

This page contains a manuscript with dense handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar. The text is arranged in approximately 20 horizontal lines. At the bottom of the page, there are several musical staves with square neumes. A large, dark, circular ink blot or hole is present in the lower-middle section of the page, partially obscuring the text and the musical notation. The paper shows signs of age, including some staining and a circular stamp in the upper left corner.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a liturgical book or manuscript. The text is written in a dense, cursive hand with some red ink used for initials or headings. The script is characteristic of the 15th or 16th century. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or dialect than the main body of text.

Handwritten musical notation consisting of several staves. The notation is a form of mensural notation, likely used for Gregorian chant or similar liturgical music. The staves are arranged in a row, with some staves containing more complex rhythmic patterns than others.

Handwritten text in Gothic script, likely a liturgical or legal document, spanning across the top and middle of the page.
